EKT ePublishing Services

At EKT, we work together with publishers, editors and authors to deliver the electronic edition of accredited journals, books and conference proceedings so that they are openly available to the research and academic community in Greece and the world.

EKT ePublishing services cover all stages of the publication process and are constantly updated in the light of the developments in the field of scholarly communication.

- Web hosting services for e-journals, monographs, books, conference proceedings
- Open source software for online editorial management and publication
- Consulting and advisory services for the development and/or improvement of editorial guidelines, including IPR issues, and improvement of operational efficiency
- Digitization services and digital processing of publications
- Technical support of the journal's digital edition
- Metadata services: data and metadata documentation and organization
- Web design services for the online editions
- Indexing services for inclusion in international directories (e.g. Scopus, DOAJ, ISI)
- Digital tools for increasing content visibility and diversifying available formats
- Promotion and publicity services for the publications through diverse channels.

Enabling open access to the scholarly output of the country presents a major challenge for the National Documentation Centre. EKT ePublishing offers publishers and authors the option to publish in open access and ensure that everyone can read, use and trust the latest research.
